db2perfr - Performance electronic monitor registration tool. version of the DB2 database system (migration to the current version .name is SYSTOOLS.DB2.PERF.PROCESS) to register the startup parameters used to start the electronic monitor program as a numeric value. This allows you to keep track of CPU and memory usage, as well as monitor system calls and time blocks in use. Startup parameters are registered after the electronic monitor program is started. To access these startup options in the db2perfr table, you need to know the electronic monitor program name and process name.
